

ABSTRACT

The present invention is a method for securing a soft bait on a fishing hook. The method 5 includes using one or more stay pieces slidable along a hook shaft to prevent undesired movement of the soft bait on the hook shaft.